

Medical Malpractice: How to Avoid Getting Sued and What to Do If You Are

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 24TH, 6:00 P.M.

While it is essential to take the right steps to deal with an active malpractice suit, it is much more effective to make sure that suit wasn't filed in the first place. Ven Johnson, founder of Ven Johnson Law, has over three decades of experience in the malpractice field. He will instruct you on some common approaches to avoid being sued and what are the correct steps to take if you are sued.

About the Speaker:

Attorney Ven Johnson has been representing victims against insurance companies, big business and government for more than 35 years. He has handled cases in State and Federal Courts in most Michigan jurisdictions and in courtrooms throughout the United States, winning over $200 million in jury verdicts and achieving case settlements of more than $400 million.

Ven has been recognized by legal organizations and publications across the United States for his contributions and achievements in the field of personal injury law. Most recently he was honored with the "Respected Advocate Award". This award is given by the Michigan Defense Trial Counsel to recognize and honor "in recognition of his superb skills as a courtroom adversary, whose civility, ethics and decorum distinguish him as an outstanding advocate on behalf of his clients."
